Marquar blasts Chancery Court as junkyard cleanup time nears

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A decree issued Aug. 22 by Chancery Court Judge William Stewart ordering the removal of junked vehicles from within 1,000 feet of US-90 right-of-way is claimed to be unfair by Henry (Buck) Marquar, listed as one of the owners of Super Star Enterprises Corporation. The action by Judge Stewart was ordered because of violations of the 'Junkyard Control Law.'

In addition to Marquar, Ray Spinks was listed in the decree as an owner and they were given 60 days to remove the junked and dismantled vehicles from within 1,000 feet of US-90.

Marquar reports that Spinks died two weeks ago.

Marquar said, "I believe I should have been able to construct a fence across my property which would comply with the 'Junkyard Control Law.' It is unfair for me to have to remove my vehicles 1,000 feet from the highway."

"The property where Super Star is located is 1,200 feet deep and 100 feet of it is a swamp and Marquar said the decree would put him out of business."

"I have everything I own tied up in this junkyard. This will put me out of business. If I have to crush my vehicles to get rid of them I will lose more than 80 percent of their value," Marquar stated.

Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson, who was ordered in the decree by Judge Stewart to "... remove, sell or give away all vehicles, or parts thereof, within 1,000 feet of US-90 not removed in 60 days at the cost of Super Star ..."

said Wednesday that he has no other options but to follow the judge's orders.

Peterson commented, "I will have to make sure the order has been carried out and go by on Oct. 22 or soon after to check and see if it has. I have to follow

Supervisors declare jail water leak an emergency

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Water lines in the Hancock County Jail foundation are leaking thousands gallons of water per day and plumbers are unable to locate the leak.

To remedy the problem the County Board of Supervisors Monday declared the water loss an emergency and authorized Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson to correct the situation at the Bay St. Louis facility located behind the Courthouse.

However, after the leak is stopped, the ground could collapse underneath the jail, plumbers feel.

Last month Peterson told supervisors the water meter serving his offices and the jail building indicated a daily water usage of some 8,000 gallons.

"New York State Jail doesn't use that much water in a day," the sheriff said Wednesday.

"We've been receiving excessive water bills for about the last year and we feel like it is due to faulty plumbing under the jail's concrete slab," Peterson explained.

The sheriff said new by-pass water lines will be installed through the walls of both buildings to eliminate the problem.

No cost estimate has been established for the emergency work.

Lee's Plumbing and Heating Service of Waveland has been authorized to install the new lines.

Lee Ferrell of the Waveland firm said, "There's no way to establish a price on that job. We're going to have to go in there with air, hammers and welding torches to install the new lines."

"We're going to place most of the lines inside the walls," he noted.

Borg-Warner electric use will delay rural rate hike

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Borg-Warner Chemical's plant under construction at Port Blenville Industrial Park in Hancock County will generate a positive side effect for local rural electric power customers.

A Coast Electric Power Association official revealed this week projected electric power usage by the local industry would delay a general customer rate increase.

Coast Electric serves primarily rural areas in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River Counties.

Operations Manager Bob Occhi of Coast Electric's headquarters in Bay St. Louis said Tuesday South Mississippi Electric Power Association, based in Hattiesburg, will construct a 115 kilovolt electric transmission line from the Logtown substation located on Hwy. 607 near the Hancock Welcome Center to Port Blenville.

"That line will serve the industrial park and particularly Borg-Warner," Occhi added.

"Anytime we have a big customer we will sell more electricity. This is going to improve Coast Electric's revenues which should help the cooperative so far as rates go," he explained.

"We're not going to have a rate reduction, but revenue from Borg-Warner should help delay an increase in rates," Occhi stated.

The operations manager said the 10-mile transmission line would parallel an existing 45-kilovolt line now serving the industrial park.

Occhi estimated 25-50 feet of additional right-of-way would be needed for the new line. The existing right-of-way is 50 feet wide.

"The line will be able to handle Borg-Warner plus two other industries of similar size," Occhi explained.

The operations manager said the new transmission line will consist of three aluminum cables (some 30 miles of cable) hung on creosote poles.

Occhi reported no other industry at Port Blenville consumes the projected power usage he expects from Borg-Warner, but he did not have details regarding the industry's power usage.

Engineering Manager John Corley of South Mississippi's Hattiesburg headquarters would not release any information Tuesday regarding the cost of the project, if any construction contracts would be let, an estimated date construction would begin, or Borg-Warner's projected power consumption.

Shoreline fire brings arrest

By ELLIS CUEVAS

An investigation into a Shoreline Park structure fire Sunday has led to the arrest of one person who is charged with arson, according to Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Peterson said that Steven Theobald, 28, of Rt. 3, Box 491, Bay St. Louis was arrested Tuesday as he left Hancock General Hospital after being treated for smoke inhalation, heat and lacerations of both wrists.

Theobald, who was listed as the only occupant of the Shoreline Park residence when the fire occurred at about 11:30 a.m. Sunday, was taken to Hancock General by Mobile Medic from the fire scene, according to police.

The fire was investigated by the Hancock County Fire Investigation Squad which consists of Ed Friloux, Diamondhead Fire Administrator; Kenneth Fayard, Waveland Fire Chief; and Jay Marsh, chief of East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department.

Peterson reported that the Hancock Investigators had conferred with State Fire Marshall Norman Cowart during the investigation.

Theobald was arrested by Peterson and Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner and he is reported out on a $1500 bond. No arrests have been made on the destruction of a home located at Lower Bay Road and US-90 destroyed by fire shortly before 1 a.m. Sunday.

Arson is suspected also in this fire and an investigation is continuing by the Hancock Fire Investigation Squad.

The Lower Bay Road home and contents were completely destroyed.

The home was owned by Rene Chastang, police say.

The damage to the Shoreline Park home was estimated at $3,000 with Theobald listed as the owner.

Public Ceremonies to open District 4 Community Center

Hancock County Supervisor Sam Perniciaro of District 4 reports opening of a community center and playground Friday with public ceremonies at 1 p.m.

Perniciaro said the center will be available for use by citizens and groups in the area.

Six of the Senior Citizen artists of Hancock County have donated original oil paintings for display at the Community Center. They will be presented by the artists at the opening.

The artists, working in the capacity of RSVP volunteers, include Mrs. Edmee Cagle, Rose (Pete) Carr, Helen Cuevas, Eva Manieri, Oline Moran and Iona Wainwright.

The new center is located on Hwy. 43, just off Hwy. 603, on the right hand side of the road. The playground is on the same piece of property.

Bay residents cite neighborhood woes

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Several residents of Ramoneda Street in Bay St. Louis appeared at a City Council Meeting Tuesday night complaining of stray dogs, raw sewage in the street, and a proposed Third Street exit for Alcan Cable Co.'s plant.

Lydia Schults told the councilmen, "It has been a living hell with the dog situation on our street."

The citizen said stray dogs were apparently roaming from neighbor's yards and the nearby animal pound.

She complained of one stray with an eye hanging out, "spit-up blood" from dogs on her front porch, and litters of puppies and kittens appearing on her property.

"I've called up the mayor and people at city hall screaming about the situation several times," Schults stated.

The resident suggested enforcement of existing leash laws or the licensing of animals in the city.

Another Ramoneda resident complained of garbage being strewn on the street by dogs two mornings in a row. Councilman James Thriffliey stated, "I'm sitting here in disbelief because I didn't realize this situation existed."

"I think it's a classic example of the dog catcher not doing his job," Thriffliey added.

Schults said, "Finally, I took some of the dogs to the Gulfport pound."

"If we had a license ordinance we could easily find the dogs' homes and it would make people confine these animals," she suggested.

Councilman Wilmer Seymour reported, "We already have a law which says you have to keep a dog tied up or confined in a fenced yard."

"When we get a new city-county pound we'll have a better situation, but we'll get together and try to see what we can do," Seymour stated.

Regarding the sewerage problem on Ramoneda Street, Schults cited "remnants of Koter and toilet paper" being washed up on the street.

Mayor Larry Bennett reported sewerage breaks on Ramoneda, Washington, St. Francis and Booker Streets would be corrected within two to three weeks.

Another Ramoneda resident reported a city water and sewerage department employee had given a neighbor a key to turn on a nearby switch when the sewerage system overflowed.

"Sometimes it takes about four hours before the sewerage stops flowing," the resident added.

Bennett stated, "This is a chronic problem and at our last 'workshop' meeting this problem was brought up." "Workshop" meetings are closed-door sessions held routinely by the Bay Council which are unannounced, secret get-togethers by the councilmen and city officials.

In reference to Alcan's plans to build a Third Street exit road Schultz reported, "We attended a City Planning and Zoning Commission meeting and found out Alcan would have a street going to Third Street."

"The planning commission said they would send a letter asking for Alcan's intentions. We asked that heavy trucks not use the road," the citizen said.

Bennett read a letter from Alcan Plant Manager Alan McCaslin which stated, "We would like to make it clear that any such road would be used only as an emergency access way and used very infrequently."

"The proposed entrance would be for safety requirements," the letter concludes.

The city council adopted the letter into its minutes.

After the letter was read another resident asked, "Could you define 'infrequently' and 'emergency'?"

Bennett replied, "I'll be happy to ask them."

Schultz also presented the board a petition with 35 area residents' signatures stating their concern over the proposed roadway.

The council also included that letter in its minutes.

Herta Smith also appeared before the council seeking approval for 'Pioneers' (an organization of retired South Central Bell Telephone Co. employees) to build park equipment for the Washington Street Park.

The project was old pending approval by the Parks and Playground's Commission.

Extension service predicts increased October rainfall

Harvesting this month may be more difficult than usual because of a predicted above median rainfall.

The Mississippi Weather Outlook, distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, reports most of Mississippi usually receives between one and one-half inches and two inches of rain in October, say agrometeorologists at the Mid-South Farm Weather Service in Stoneville who prepare the forecasts.

Extra moisture is going to be more of a problem than a gain to most farmers, the weather specialists add.

"Rainfall will make fields harder to work in during harvest. Longer nights will aggravate this situation by allowing dew and fog to last longer," an extension service spokesman explains.

Dr. George Mullendore, extension cotton specialist warns, "The quality of many crops also may be damaged if damp weather persists. Cotton may drop its fruit in rain or high winds particularly this year."

"Farmers planting winter grains and pastures should benefit from the mild, rainy month. Many fields already are in good shape for winter planting after late September rains. More precipitation during October will be generally beneficial," the spokesman says.

The weather specialists predict near normal temperatures for this month. The average daily high temperatures during this time usually drop from the low 80s around at the beginning of October to the low 70s near the end of the month. Daytime lows mostly fall from the mid-50s to the mid-40s, but low temperatures along the coast move from the mid-60s to the mid-50s.

"Poultry producers will have a good month as they finally move into near optimal temperatures. Occasional episodes of heat stress may occur yet. Cold nights towards the end of the month could stress young chicks, the extension service spokesman adds.

Bay cadet earns ROTC position

A Bay St. Louis Army cadet at the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg recently earned a top position in the Army Reserve Officer Training Course Cadet chain of command for the 1980-81 academic year.

Edward C. Turnipseed, son of Mrs. Patricia Robin Turnipseed of Bay St. Louis and Herron L. Turnipseed of Biloxi, was named company executive officer.

Cadet Second Lt. Turnipseed is a 1974 graduate of Bay High.

New cadet leaders were announced in a recent special ceremony at USM by Col.

Tommy Palmertree, chairman of the Department of Military Science, and Maj. Ronald Reed, assistant professor of military science for the Army.

Malcolm McDowell takes a trip into the future in Time After Time (showing on HBO this month). As science-fiction author H.G. Wells, he travels from 19th-century London to contemporary San Francisco via the Time Machine. Malcolm's own time for growing up was the 1960's, an era he fondly remembers. "I think today's teenagers are so unlucky," he says. "There are no exciting goals. The '60's are a hard act to follow." Reflecting the mood of the film's time-shock, he adds, "Today everything seems to be mechanically processed. There are instant stars, instant hits, instant news — then it's all forgotten."

Cool Clint Eastwood battles his way through Every Which Way But Loose (on HBO this month) in his typical glacial style. But even this macho master balked at playing close to his beastly co-star Clyde, an orangutan. "I had a few misgivings about working with a 165-pound ape, but after I met with the trainers and saw their show, well, I thought, why not? It might be fun and I'd never done anything like that before, so I gave it a go." Clyde's trainers commend Clint's patience and calmness. Country-western co-star Sondra Locke seconds their praises — more or less. "He's one of the most sensitive, gentle men in the world — with the most horrifying temper," she declares.

Country-western superstar Glen Campbell prays a lot. And one of his most urgent prayers was answered by blonde, beautiful c & w singer, Tanya Tucker. Glen claims, "I've said prayers, 'Please do not let me get involved with women who are not in this business. They just don't understand my head.'" Enter Tanya, who at the tender age of 21, is an old hand at show business, having soared to stardom at 13 with "Delta Dawn." Now the two are a dynamic duo, personally and professionally. And this month they perform their greatest hits on HBO's Standing Room Only: Glen and Tanya. As Tanya proudly puts it, "Our voices blend so well that it's almost sinful not to work together." Catch their act and you'll agree.

"I have that information, but I'm not at liberty to release it unless I'm authorized by our public relations department," the engineering manager said.

Corley referred all questions to the association's public relations manager, Rex Kelly, but his office reported he was out of town and no other person was authorized to release the information.

Oechi reported, "Borg-Warner is going to need this electric service by mid-1981, so we hope to have the line up by that time."

"Both lines will be used for a period of time, but eventually the 48 kilovolt line will be retired," he said.

Oechi said the existing line to Port Blenville was originally constructed by Mississippi Power Co., but under a different arrangement, South Mississippi would construct the new line.

"South Mississippi is a cooperative Coast Electric buys electricity from," Oechi said.

The Mississippi Public Service Commission recently issued notice to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors that South Mississippi filed a petition Oct. 1 for a Certificate of Public Convenience.

The notice states a petition has been filed to, "...acquire the necessary right-of-way, construct, maintain, and operate a 115 kilovolt electric transmission line in Hancock County, Miss."

A commission meeting will review any written protests to the petition at 10 a.m. Nov. 4 on the 19th floor of the Walter Sillers State Office Building in Jackson.

Supervisor President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar said Monday the board would not file any complaints.

State funds pave three county roads

The State Aid Road Division headquartered in Jackson, recently funded some 11 miles of bituminous widening and overlay on the Anasley Road, the Blue Meadow Road, and the Standard-Dedeaux Road.

Necaise Construction Company, Inc., of Gulfport, Mississippi, contract amount $651,008 from the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

State Aid Road Division projects providing funds for improvement of 180 miles of county roads were let to contract during September by boards of supervisors in 24 counties, William F.

Stevenson, State Aid Engineer of the Mississippi State Highway Department reported recently.

Stevenson said the 32 contracted projects will cost approximately $9 million and will include various types of work such as grading, drainage, bridges, double bituminous surface treatment, bituminous pavement overlay, and resurfacing of previously paved state aid roads.

Contracts for state aid projects are awarded by boards of supervisors, subject to concurrence by the state aid engineer.

Judge Stewart's orders, I have no other choice."

Hayward Splers, owner of Hayward Splers Auto Repairs, US-90 was also ordered to remove vehicles from one area and construct a fence at his repair business by Judge Stewart also on Aug. 22.

Splers was given 30 days to do some items and 60 days others.

Splers, who was cooperative with the court appeared before the court again on September 26 advising that everything ordered to be done before 30 days had been accomplished.

Marquar said when he applied for a permit to open his business at the County Courthouse, he was told there were no restrictions.

Marquar commented, "What I cannot understand is why I was told at the Courthouse before I opened my business there were no restrictions on junk yards at the location I purchased. The reason being I was out of the city limits and the area unzoned."

"I realize all people make mistakes and I do not hold them for it as I have made my share of mistakes," Marquar added.

Marquar reports that he has called every official he could think of including those in Washington to no avail.

After trying to make contact with the political leaders, he stated, "Don't vote for them, because you cannot talk to them when you need them. You can spend your time voting for them, but they won't give you a minute or two when you need them."

Marquar said he was ordered to construct a fence a year ago by the State but that it had been blown down by a storm.

Marquar did not have kind words for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce because he felt they helped push the issue of junked cars.

Marquar said, "If they think my business is an eye sore, I would like to point out two things, one in Bay St. Louis and the other in Waveland. The pillings from the old Highway bridge in front of Ullman Avenue have been there since 1855. Take a look at the 'beautiful' Garfield Lader Memorial pier, no one can use it and yet it was dedicated to the outstanding Mayor of Waveland, Garfield Lader."

Marquar feels that the little man does not stand a chance against the big people because, "Now after four years and everything I own plus what I borrowed, these people can come in and take it away from me with the stroke of a pen."

The decree states a Marquar permit to operate could not be found in Jackson.

Marquar submitted a permit issued to him from the state of Mississippi Tax Commission on 8-18-1980.

Marquar closed by saying, "All the power and money these people have in this world will not do them any good when their time is up. I am going to spend the rest of my life praying that God will remember these people when their time comes."

A special Columbus Day address will be heard over Bay St. Louis radio station WXGR Sunday, at 9:30 a.m., according to O.J. Shiyou, grand knight of Fr. A.C. Denis Knights of Columbus, Council Number 7087 in Kiln.

Shiyou said the address will be delivered by Virgil C. Dechant, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus.

The executive head of the more than 1.3 million-member Catholic family, fraternal and service organization will speak on "Conquering The Unknown."

"Some 488 years ago, Christopher Columbus completed one of the most daring and courageous exploratory sea voyages recorded in the annals of mankind - the discovery of the North American continent," Shiyou said.

"Now more than 1.3 million men of the western hemisphere, all Knights of Columbus members, join together this week in observing this anniversary of Columbus' epic voyage," he added.

MISSISSIPPI

NEWS

The Mississippi Economic Council has called on Mississippians to examine administrative practices within county road programs across the state.

"Current methods of building and maintaining roads in most of the state's counties do not provide taxpayers with a maximum return for invested tax dollars," said MEC Chairman Lewis F. Mallory, Jr., a Starkville banker. Mallory made the statement this week after the Mississippi Supervisors Association's legislative committee reportedly considered recommending opposition to any mandatory, centralized system for county road construction and maintenance.

"The Mississippi Economic Council supports mandatory adoption of the county unit system of road management, rather than the widely practiced beat system, because we are convinced that the present beat system can not meet the needs of the people at a price we can continue to afford," said Mallory.

He cited a comparison of road programs in counties using the unit system and counties using the beat system and concluded that:

- Compared to beat system counties, the unit system counties expend considerably smaller percentages of total funds on county road programs;
- Maintenance costs per mile of county road have been considerably less in unit system counties than in the beat system counties;

- The unit system appears to provide enhanced planning in the purchase of road equipment;
- The unit system's use of trained engineers encourages professionally developed and maintained road systems; and
- According to officials who have used both systems, the unit system is more efficient and productive.

"Data released by the Federal Highway Administration," said Mallory, "reveals that Mississippi counties received 27.6 percent of the state's total revenue from highway user taxes - compared with the national average of 17 percent. This ranks the state first in the nation in percentage of expenditure received by the counties."

"State law does not mandate that counties use the unit system or the beat system, but leaves the decision on how road programs will be administered up to each board of supervisors," he said. "This ultimately leaves to the voters the decision on how roads can best be built or administered. Mississippians should express their opinion that the unit system is a workable, efficient alternative to the beat system, and recommend to their elected officials that the unit system - using unitized administration, purchasing, manpower, and equipment - be adopted."

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

In response to Governor William Winter's call for closer cooperation and coordination between the Southern Governors' Association and state legislators, Winter has been named, as one of three governors, to the newly-created committee on State Executive-Legislative Cooperation.

Winter has also been named to the Agriculture Transportation Task Force of the National Governors' Association. Joining Winter on the Southern Governors' Association panel are Governors Richard Riley of South Carolina, Lamar Alexander of Tennessee, and three as yet unannounced Southern legislators.

During the recent meeting of the Southern Governors' Association in Williamsburg, Virginia, Winter urged his fellow Southern governors to "establish closer liaison with state legislators and U.S. Congressmen in the work and deliberations of the Southern Governors' Association." Winter told the other governors that the SGA could substantially increase its effectiveness by including legislators as partners in the work and discussions of the conference.

Winter will serve with South Dakota Governor William Janklow, chairman of the National Governors' Association Agriculture Committee, and other governors on the Agriculture Transportation Task Force.

The task force will examine financing mechanisms for solving agricultural transportation needs in the areas of rail, water, interstate highways, and rural secondary roads. The task force will also explore ways of maximizing federal and state appropriations and a variety of ways of solving agricultural transportation problems.

In accepting the appointment to the task force, Winter said, "Serving on this committee will enable me to gain greater insight into ways of solving many of the transportation problems we face in Mississippi as they relate to agriculture. Since our state's economy is largely based upon agriculture and agriculture-related industries, finding ways of funding a viable transportation system, which includes rail lines, highways, waterways, and secondary roads is of special importance to Mississippians."

"I have worked hard to develop the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway and to save rail lines that had been scheduled for abandonment. As this task force comes to grips with the transportation needs of our agricultural community, it should result in many direct benefits to the Mississippi economy which is especially dependent on the transportation of agricultural products."

Winter said solving problems in agricultural transportation ties in closely with the central thrust of his economic development program, which is developing and expanding export markets for state grown products. "By significantly expanding our export market we can bring greater stability and prosperity to all facets of the Mississippi agricultural economy," Winter said. "As part of my effort to develop export markets, I met recently with the Mexican Ambassador to the United States in an effort to stimulate trade between Mississippi and Mexico. Mexico, as our nearest foreign neighbor, offers great potential as a trade partner."

Winter said the success of agriculture in the state is dependent upon an adequate transportation system. The governor said his appointment to the Agriculture Transportation task Force of the NGA will help insure farmers in the state that their transportation needs are met.

One of the first thing we noticed this year on our way to the Gumbo Festival was the fact that the road from Hwy. 603 to the festivities was blacktopped.

District Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner has to be commended for this endeavor. We have complained for years about the need of that road being surfaced and nothing was ever done.

It was a job to be able to go to the Gumbo Festival without first being dusted to death.

We are sure the thousands who attended the annual event were also glad to see the road improved.

These cool crisp mornings are something we have needed for some time to brighten up things.

We have suffered through so many record hot temperatures during the long summer just past, but we haven't heard a complaint about the cool weather.

We heard several Bay St. Louis employees express dissatisfaction about the fact that they have been informed by their department heads of budgets being cut for the 1980-81 year.

Their big concern was, that everything keeps going up and they just wonder how their departments will be able to operate for less this year than last year.

We hope everything will work out, maybe some 'wind falls' will happen.

Tomorrow night is homecoming at both Bay Senior High and Hancock North Central.

The Tigers will be going against a strong Long Beach Bearcat squad. Everyone gives Bay High only a slight chance of winning, but a super effort could give them a homecoming victory.

We must remember, the Tigers scored two TD's last week against d'Iberville and we can remember the warriors running everybody into the ground for the past several years.

The Hawks take on St. John and it is always a good game between the two schools. The Hawks played a tremendous game last week only to come up on the short end of a 9-6 score against St. Stanislaus.

The game could have gone either way, even down to the last few seconds. It was the best game we witnessed this season, some real fine hitting and good defensive ball by both the Hawks and Rock-A-Chaws.

St. Stanislaus will be in for a rough and tough contest with d'Iberville. The Warriors may get a surprise from the Rocks who have a fine defense this season. We hope they can generate

PROTECTING AMERICAN AGRICULTURE

American agriculture has been the most productive in the world, furnishing vast supplies of food at relatively low prices and providing jobs, directly or indirectly, for some 30 percent of our workforce.

The tremendous efficiency and productivity of our farmers have allowed Americans to spend a smaller portion of their incomes on food than any other people in the world. At the same time, farm exports have eased the serious balance of payments caused by imports of foreign oil.

But profits per farm have fallen from a net of $3,875 in 1973 to $5,770 in 1979, expressed in constant dollars. Government has vacillated between encouragement of production for export and the imposition of trade embargoes.

Indeed, President Carter's grain embargo served to cripple American farmers without damaging our enemies. This was an embargo imposed for foreign policy purposes, similar to other actions which have left countless farmers with large crops and low prices.

Unnecessary government regulation, inflation and oppressive taxation have multiplied the pressures upon America's family farms. As one who recognizes the importance of agriculture in our economy and the need for preservation of the family farm, I believe some actions should be taken.

Inflation, particularly, must be dealt with because it has been very damaging to the American farmer. I support tax-cutting and budget-balancing initiatives in the Congress which will attack inflation.

As inflation artificially increases the value of family farms, heirs have faced significant problems in paying estate taxes. I joined with others in Congress to repeal the so-called "carryover basis rule" and make other reforms.

I have also proposed outright repeal of the estate tax and adoption of a 10-6-3 depreciation plan which would make it easier for farmers to deduct the skyrocketing costs of their equipment and machinery.

In another area, agricultural exports have been vital in improving our balance of trade position in this era of high costs for imported oil. I have worked to expand export markets because these markets should be exploited.

America has been blessed with some of the most fertile soil and abundant natural resources in the world, but those alone are not sufficient to explain the bounty of American agriculture. The true keys have been the industry and independent spirit of generations of family farmers.

I believe government has played a role in assisting farmers, but government control can never replace the individual commitment that is necessary to make a farm prosper.

One of the world's most popular jazz clarinetists is the focus of a new 60-minute documentary to air at 9 p.m., Wednesday, October 15, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

'Pete!' traces Pete Fountain's career from his roots in Dixieland to his present status as a top tourist attraction of the home of jazz. Viewers are treated to some of Fountain's music as well as non-musical profiles of the artist.

He is shown piling into the front seat of one of his antique cars with his grandchildren and ending up on the veranda of his vacation home in Bay St. Louis—all to the tune of Pete singing 'Sunday in the Country.'

Viewers pay a call to 'back o' town' where Fountain grew up and to the prime real estate where he hangs out now.

Narrated by Phil Harris, the program shows Fountain at his cousin's country and western club and taking a 'well-lubricated walk downtown.'

Among the highlights of the program are rare film clips of Fountain and the 'Basin Street Six' in the 40's and of Pete's last night on 'The Lawrence Welk Show' when he reluctantly agreed to dance with the ladies in the audience.

Oh, have I been making a pig of myself lately, since Kay Elmer gave me the recipe for making a Mock Oyster Dip with broccoli, for oysters are among my favorite foods of all... and broccoli, too.

This dip really tastes oyster, and may also be used as a casserole, or baked in individual shells or other dishes or spooned into patty shells, delicious any way you serve it, even over rice or noodles.

So here's
MOCK OYSTER DIP
1 pkg. frozen chopped broccoli, cooked and drained
1 can pieces and stems of mushrooms
1 can cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
1 roll garlic cheese
1 stick margarine or butter
1 large onion, 2 small toes garlic, chopped

Cook the broccoli until soft (overcooked) then drain. Melt the butter or margarine and saute the onion and garlic pieces in it until really limp.

While the butter, etc., is still hot, melt the cheese, then add the remaining ingredients. Mix well, serve hot with corn chips or such. Keep warm in a chafing dish or other warmer.

Kay adds that since some (such as I) like this dish even "hotter," she divides it into two sections (or makes a double batch) and sprinkles one with red pepper or crushed red pepper flakes. If you prefer a milder version, use a roll of sharp cheese instead of the jalapeno.

Another delightful Mock Oyster dish is made with a package of chopped spinach (frozen), cooked and drained, and a roll of Jalapeno cheese, the usual seasonings, omitting the mushrooms and soup.

And since we're in a mocking mood, here's a little tidbit, a Mock Oyster Spread:

To an 8-ounce package of Cream cheese, at room temperature, of course, add a tablespoon of finely-minced parsley, a half teaspoon of summer savory, and of marjoram and thyme, with just a dash of salt and pepper:

Mix all together, then refrigerate for several hours or overnight. Spread on melba toast or little crackers, for two dozen or so canapés. (Copyright 1980, Katharine D.M. Caire).

SENIOR CITIZEN HAPPENINGS

By EVE McDONALD

BAZAAR

The pre-Christmas bazaar and open-house at the Senior Center was a big success Tuesday. There were delicious sandwiches and desserts served on the grounds.

The arts and crafts projects sold well and were beautiful to behold. It is amazing to see the quality and variety of work the senior citizens do.

All of the classes were very satisfied with their sales and are now planning to purchase more supplies for their classes.

CENTER OPENING

Supervisor Sam Pernicaro will be presented six original oil paintings for the new Community Center off Hwy. 604 on Hwy. 43 by the artists who are donating them to the County.

The artists are: Mrs. Edmee Cagle, Rose (Pete) Carr, Helen Cuevas, Eva Manieri, Oline Moran, and Iona Wainwright.

The community is invited to the opening ceremonies Friday at 1 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Friday, Oct. 31 - Halloween Day - we will have a Recreation and Day Care Halloween Party. Be thinking up a costume as we want everyone to try to wear some sort of costume to the party.

NEW MANAGER—Richard Steed has been named manager of TG&Y's Bay St. Louis store. Steed, a native of Long Beach, is married to the former Sandy Page of Meridian. Pass Historical Society's tour of homes set Friday

549 East Scenic Drive

503 East Scenic Drive

Mr. William D. Moorman

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Pass Christian Historical Society's annual Tour of Homes will be Friday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. with a tea from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. that day.

A donation of $5 is requested for the tour.
Historical Society President Elizabeth (Liz) Pritchard reports tickets for the tour may be purchased the day of the tour at the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce office located near US-90 at the harbor or at any of the homes included in the event.

"Evelyn Buck and Helen Jones of Pass Christian organized the tour which features some of the loveliest homes in our city," Pritchard notes.

Four homes featured in the tour include:

—The 503 East Scenic Drive residence of William L. Kornhaus and William D. Moorman which has been recently restored. The Victorian structure was originally one room with a projecting central bay. The house features beveled glass doors enriched with 'egg and dart' molding, a Victorian faucet handle on the front lawn and a stained glass window near the entrance;

—The 549 East Scenic Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Klumpp which appears to be of 1910 vintage. The 'central core' of the building may be older due to the Klumpp's discovery of 'brick-between-post' construction found during recent remodeling work. A Judge Parker of New Orleans owned the residence until World War II. Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Walker then bought the home and lived there for some 30 years;

—The 639 East Second Street house of Mr. and Mrs. George Morse which will be open for the tea only from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. Charles Hill built this Mediterranean style home in the early 1920's near his family's beachfront home. A Mr. and Mrs. Tipping enclosed the back gallery and three generations of a local artisan family have added to this home. In 1978 Thomas Spencer built a gazebo in the backyard which reflects old Gulf Coast architecture;

—The 1001 East Beach residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Gildersleeve, another Victorian home, which is painted in a traditional soft pink and white colors. A guest house is also featured. The heirs of John Henderson, of whom Henderson Point is named, sold the property in 1890.

The historical society president adds that lunch will be served at Trinity Episcopal Church Parish House, at the corner of St. Louis and Church Streets, from 11:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. at $4 per person.

Jail Leak

"But after stopping such a large leak, we could face the possibility of the ground settling where the leak was," the Waveland plumber added.

Ferrell also noted that prisoners would have to be moved out of the jail while work was underway in the cells. Plumber Ronnie Ferrell, son of the Waveland plumber, told supervisors last month he searched throughout the two buildings and underneath the Courthouse foundation, but could not find the leak.

"The only thing I can figure is that water from the leak is running into an old septic tank or drain," the plumber explained.

Peterson said Wednesday, A.L. Franklin of the Bay St. Louis Water Department has been assisting in efforts to correct the problem by installing a new water meter and trying to trace the leak.

Regarding local efforts to provide suitable jail facilities for the county, the supervisors approved a resolution presented by Federal Programs Coordinator Ronnie Murray to establish a Hancock County Jail Project Committee.

The committee will consist of two board members, three citizens appointed by the board, a city official from Bay St. Louis and Waveland, a local justice court judge, a circuit court judge, a representative from the district attorney's and sheriff's office, and Board Attorney Walter Gex.

Gulf Regional Planning Commission prepared the resolution and will advise the committee.

The committee will recommend to supervisors:

—An appropriate site or sites for construction of new jail facilities;

—The type and size of facility best designed to meet the needs of the county and requirements for proper safeguard of inmates' individual constitutional rights as recommended by the American Correctional Association's Manual of Standards for Adult Local Detention Facilities;

—The types of programs that should be provided for inmates to meet legal, medical, physical, moral and recreational needs;

—Such other related matters as may be requested by the supervisors 'from time to time'.

Regarding a written offer from Commissioner Jim Buck Ross, Mississippi Department of Agriculture, the board authorized purchasing 15 tons of a new fire ant killer named Andro for distribution in the county.

The new fire ant bait replaces the controversial fire ant killer Mirex which was banned by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency several years ago after traces of the chemical were found in several types of shellfish.

In fact, the State operated a Mirex manufacturing plant in north Mississippi.

American Cyanamid Co. manufactures Andro.

However, the letter from Ross states, "Andro is not approved for lands with food crops."

The supervisors will share one-half the cost ($1,500) of ant bait with the State department.

County Agent John Smith said Wednesday he had not received any notification when the chemical would arrive here, but added, "The fire ant bait will just be available to home owners to treat fire ant problems in their own yards."

Smith said if he distributed the chemical it would be available free to local residents on a limited basis.

"Studies have shown Andro to be 98 percent effective," the county expert added.

In other business at the 9 a.m. regular meeting at the Courthouse, the board:

—Appointed District Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner as a county representative to Gulf Regional Planning Commission; —Appointed former Chancery clerk John Rutherford as the county's liaison to the U.S. Council of the International Year of Disabled Persons;

—Reappointed David Peranich of Bay St. Louis to the County Hospital Board;

—Accepted the resignation of Joseph Tate as county representative of GRP-C;

—Accepted a resolution from the County Port and Harbor Commission presented by Director W. Wilson Webre recommending Mid-Gulf Construction Co. of Texas install a water main to the Borg-Warner Chemical plant under construction at Port Blenville Industrial Park. Mid-Gulf submitted a low bid of $4,969;

—Accepted a resolution from the port and harbor commission presented by Webre recommending Joe Cuevas be hired at $50 per hour to remove eight inches of 'organic material' for a road bed around the Borg-Warner plant. Webre said Cuevas would provide his own bulldozer to perform the work and the contract would not exceed $120 hours ($6,000);

—Accepted a resolution from the port and harbor commission presented by Webre authorizing a one-year lease agreement with Mid-Continent Aircraft Corp. for office space at Stennis International Airport which would range from $150 to $300 per month;

—Accepted a list of 10 mobile homes which were registered with the Assessor-Tax Collector's office in September;

—Accepted a recommendation by Assessor-Tax Collector Edward D. Murtagh, Jr. to purchase aerial photographs of the county from the state at cost for reappraisal purposes.

Board Secretary Jim Pfeiffer said the negatives would be provided at cost.

—Accepted a low $1,007 bid from Electrocom of New Orleans for a police band radio for the District Three Constable's car.

—Accepted a recommendation by County Engineer Lawrence Seal to utilize a petroleum mat in repaving in several areas of Beach Boulevard which have been previously overlaid and have serious tracking problems. The engineer is now preparing plans and specifications for a beach road repair project;

—Accepted a recommendation by Seal to apply for Federal State Aid funds to restripe several county roads which were originally striped with the funds;

—Accepted a recommendation by Seal to file a federally required minority business report. The engineer said the report was necessary for the state aid funds;

—Accepted a recommendation by District Four Supervisor James Travira for Seal to apply for funds to repair a bridge on Legans Street in Shoreline Park;

—Approved a notary bond for Waveland City Clerk Barbara Rappold;

—Authorized a tax refund to Mike Hays for an erroneous assessment on a parcel of land in Section 25-1-18;

—Authorized Mississippi Pumping Service, Inc. of Diamondhead to place a water transfer line under a ditch along Bayou LaCroix Road for an oil well drilling operation;

—Authorized appropriations for the assessor-tax collector's and sheriff's first quarter budget;

—Authorized a revenue sharing use report;

—Authorized bid advertisement for a heavy equipment trailer for District One as requested by Supervisor Bert Courge;

—Authorized bid advertisement for various equipment for the Waveland, Clermont Harbor, Bay St. Louis, Diamondhead, Kiln and East Hancock Fire Departments; —Held a public hearing for Small Cities Program funding requests. Senior Citizen's Program Director Eve McDonald requested funds for any pertinent projects for her organization;

—Heard a report from Board President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar that a Mississippi Supervisor's Association meeting is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Oct. 30 at Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville; —Heard a report from Park Commissioner Mary Callier of Clermont Harbor that handicapped parking signs are available from a soft drink company;

—Heard a report from Murtagh that his office has measured and listed over 11,000 structures in Ward One of Bay St. Louis;

—Heard a report from Webre that Louisiana Governor Dave Treen stated in a letter the state would not object to a proposed redrawing of a Port Blenville Industrial Park channel through Little Lake.

I-10 section opens today

Southern District Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner said ceremonies today opening I-10 between Hwys. 87 and 63 in Jackson County will include a 10,000-meter race sponsored jointly by the Mississippi Highway Department and Gulf Coast Jogging Club.

The race will kickoff the day's events at 11:30 a.m.

Governor William Winter, Lieutenant Governor Fred Dye and Congressman Tom Blanton are expected to participate in the ceremonies.

The Kessler Air Force Base Honor Guard will present colors as the base's Wind Air Force Band plays the National Anthem.

Joiner termed the opening of this segment of I-10 "a very significant and historic occasion on the Gulf Coast."

He urged public participation as "a show of support for better highways."

The incomplete section of I-10 in Mississippi between Hwy. 67 and the Alabama state is the only portion of I-10 between Jacksonville, Fla., and Los Angeles, Calif. yet to be completed.

4-H members join national observance

Some 125 Hancock County youngsters, members of four 4-H Clubs in the county, have joined with more than 153,000 other Mississippi youth celebrating National 4-H Week this week.

The national observance continues through Saturday.

A common trait of all 4-H programs is a learn-by-doing approach. Active involvement of youth is designed to help them learn and apply knowledge and thereby develop life skills.

These skills vary from learning to clean a camera to fitting an animal for a show and from planning and preparing a meal to platform speaking.

As skillmost former 4-Hers attribute to 4-H is the ability to interact with people.

Another strength of 4-H is the ability to give to the people.

National, state and local governments finance the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service that, in turn, provides program personnel and curriculum. Local volunteers then deliver the program to youth.

More than 5,000 volunteers were involved in the Mississippi 4-H Program last year. Hancock County has 12 volunteer leaders.

Youth also provide volunteer leadership as older teens guide and share their skills with younger 4-Hers as teen leaders.

More than 40 projects are available for youth to participate in.

Many 4-Hers choose more than one project. Others concentrate on one main interest. Projects are designed for urban and rural youth. A farm youth enrolled in the dairy project may devote his time to milk production. A city 4-H'er enrolled in the project may study dairy marketing and processing.

Participating in various 4-H projects helps youth develop values, economics and careers. Project work provides an insight into the real world of work.

Awards and incentives encourage 4-H participation and recognize outstanding achievement. Local, state and national business agencies and individuals provide the funds for these incentives.

Most awards are given through various competitive events designed to help 4-Hers exhibit skills learned in project work. 4-Hers are encouraged to maintain a record of their learning and achievement. These records contribute to one's feeling of self worth and provide a method for recognizing accomplishments.

4-H began in Mississippi in 1907. The program has changed to meet the needs of youth based on their individual interests. Changes are made continuously by 4-H participants to keep the program abreast with today's youth.

For information about 4-H call Ricky Smith, County Extension Agent, at 467-6456 or come by 45 Necaise Avenue in Bay St. Louis.

Seniors plan Halloween party at funeral home

President Pere Cabibi of Waveland Senior Citizens, Inc. has invited all members to a Halloween Party at Riemann Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis, Monday at 10 a.m.

A short business meeting will be conducted prior to appearance of witches and smoke bombs, as well as surprises planned for members and guests.

A meeting of the Waveland Seniors Mardi Gras Krewe will follow the party.

Carnival Ball will be held at American Legion home Post 77, Waveland on Saturday, Jan. 17, 1981.

Krewe members should be present to vote on plans, Cabibi said.

In the event of a funeral all of the above plans will be transferred to Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue, Cabibi stated.

"Check your Sunday, Oct. 12 Sea Coast Echo for funeral notices," she urged.

Special guests invited to join in the "fun" include Monsignor John Scanlon of St. Clare's Parish, Waveland; Mrs. Margaret Gavagnie of Security Savings Association; Mrs. Darlene Underwood, Hancock County Home Economist; Miss Barbara Rappold, Waveland City Clerk; Mr. Louis Schmolinsky, Waveland alderman; and Pearlinton Senior Citizens.

"Happy Halloween to all who miss this party!!!," Cabibi, a famous crystal ball gazer and fortune teller, warned.

Wilcox Electric becomes Wilcox Appliance Co.

Wilcox Appliance Company will celebrate its grand opening October 10 through November 1, according to Karl Wilcox, owner.

Wilcox is son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wilcox, owners for more than 30 years of D. E. Wilcox Electric, Inc. in Waveland, who are in the process of retiring from the business.

Karl Wilcox, who has worked 15 years in the business with his parents, is taking over the television, appliance, central heating-air conditioning and repair service, phases of Wilcox Electric.

Wilcox resides in Bay St. Louis and is married to the former Sharon Stratbucker, formerly of Fort Calhoun, Neb. They have one son, John Karl, 10 months; and a daughter Rachael, two years old.

A graduate of Bay Senior High, he attended Jeff Davis Junior College and graduated from Oral Roberts University in 1978.

Wilcox is scoutmaster for Troop 210, Waveland. Upon graduation from Oral Roberts University he was pastor for the Clermont Harbor and Pearlinton United Methodist Churches for 18 months.

The new appliance company is dealer for Amana home appliances and air conditioners; Zenith TV's and sound equipment; Majic Chef ranges; Kitchen Aide dishwashers and disposals; and Maytag washers and dryers. Wilcox and his family are members of the Word of Faith Church, Waveland.

DICKENS' STORY SLATED
An eight-episode television adaptation of Charles Dickens' classic, tragedy, "A Tale of Two Cities," launches the fifth season of "Once Upon a Classic."

The episodes can be seen at 1 p.m., Saturdays, beginning October 11, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

"A Tale of Two Cities" tells the story of mystery, love and honor during the French Revolution. The backdrops are Paris-where an entire society collapsed and "The Terror" sent thousands to the guillotine-and London, where they watched the vengeful slaughter of the French aristocracy.

"The story begins when Lucie Manette learns that her father, who has been missing for almost two decades, is alive.

Suzy Thomas to reign over Tiger Homecoming

Suzy Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Thomas of Bay St. Louis, is the 1980 Bay Senior High homecoming queen.

Senior Maids are Marguerite Beaugez, daughter of Mrs. Mario Beaugez of Bay St. Louis and the late Gerald Beaugez, and Charlene Clark, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Clark of Waveland. A senior, Ms. Thomas is making her third appearance on the school's homecoming court, and has been a member of the Tiger Pride Band throughout high school.

She plays the flute, has been a drill master for the rifle corps and this year is captain of the rifle corps.

As a junior, she received the award for the most outstanding member of the rifle corps.

She was a student council representative in her sophomore and junior years and a former member of the science club.

A three year member and president this year of the Latin Club, Ms. Thomas is also a two year member of the DECA club serving last year as reporter and this year as vice-president.

Ms. Beaugez is Student Council president this year and was the sophomore representative and secretary of the council in 11th grade.

She was a member of the Tiger Pride Marching Band Flag Corps for two years.

As a junior, she was a member and secretary of the Art Club, and was selected as princess for the 1980 Junior-Senior Prom.

Ms. Clark, as a sophomore, was secretary-treasurer of the class, member of the Chorus, and has worked as an office aid for two years.

She is a two year member of the National Honor Society and has also been a two year member of the Yearbook Staff and the Business Club, and this year is their vice-president.

In her junior year, Charlene was class president, student Council secretary, assistant editor of the Student Prints and Safety Club member.

She is the senior class president, Student Council secretary, Tiger Mascot and a member of the Volleyball Team.

Junior Maids are Deirdra Acker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie C. Acker and Rita Pursley, daughter of Dr. Paul A. Pursley and Mrs. Helen M. Pursley.

Ms. Acker is a member of the FHA and Safety Clubs this year, and has been a member of the Tiger Basketball and Track Teams for both her sophomore and junior year.

Ms. Pursley has played the trumpet in the Bay High Tiger Band throughout high school.

As a sophomore, she received the governor's safety award in driver education, and this year is the junior representative to the Student Council.

Sophomore maids are Dana Favre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam L. Favre Jr., and Annabelle Lipscomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lipscomb Jr.

Ms. Favre is a Tiger Cheerleader, sophomore representative to the Student Council, member of the Latin Club and the Bay High Tennis Team.

Ms. Lipscomb plays the clarinet for the Tiger Pride Band, is co-captain of the Rifle Corps, member and treasurer of the French Club, and secretary of the sophomore class.

Homecoming activities will commence at 2 p.m. Friday, with a parade forming at the City-Council Library.

The parade will go down deMontluzin Street to Beach Boulevard, Beach to Main Street, Main to Second Street and proceed to Bay Junior High campus where it will disband.

Evening activities will begin at 7:15 p.m. at the Tiger Stadium with presentation of the Homecoming Court and the crowning of the queen by Superintendent J. D. McCullough.

Board calls for two-mile commercial fishing limit

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday authorized a letter be sent to the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation requesting a two-mile offshore limit for commercial menhaden and mullet fishermen.

Presently, there are no restrictions on commercial mullet fishing, but menhaden boats must stay at least one mile from shore.

The state department said the supervisors must request a limit for both types of commercial fishing operations. The department's advice came after receiving the board's request to restrict commercial mullet netting.

At a board meeting last month, District Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro complained of 'mullet boats from Florida' fishing close to shore, which diminished sport-fishermen's catches.

"All we have to do is ask the department for the two-mile limit on both commercial fishing operations," Perniciaro said Monday. The board unanimously approved the request.

Hawks to host St. John in homecoming contest

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock North Central will celebrate homecoming Friday by hosting a visit from St. John Eagles.

Head Coach Irvin Favre reported Tuesday evening that his squad should be in good shape for the homecoming tilt with only Glen Meranto, fullback, as a doubtful player.

He said Meranto played some in the Stanislaus game, even though aching and he hopes he will be ready to go 100 percent Friday.

Favre in sizing up St. John said, "I think they have a good ball club. As you know their record is 2-2 and is very well balanced. They have a good passing game and also a good running game. We will have to try and defense against both the run and passing, and their punting is also very good."

"The Eagles are fresh from a victory over North Forest last weekend. As far as depth, they have about the same size squad as we have and will probably play as many players. St. John has a fine quarterback, wide receiver and halfback we will have to stop."

Favre added, "The Hawks were really up for St. Stanislaus last week and I hope we do not have a letdown for this week. As you know the game with Rock-A-Chaws could have gone either way," Favre allowed.

Favre said he feels the Hawks can come away victors in the homecoming contest saying, "It will be a toss up as to who will win."

Then he added, "If we can stop the option we have a good chance."

Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m. in Hawk stadium and Favre is in hopes of having a real good turnout of Hancock Supporters.

LUCKY SEVEN—Ron Kull and Max Woodside, both of Baton Rouge and Clermont Harbor, landed these seven flounders recently while fishing aboard the 'Endeavor' out of Boudage's Marina on Bayou Cadet in Hancock County.

PRC Wildcats pick up third win, face GCJC in Pascagoula Saturday

Pearl River College's Wildcats picked up their first south division win of the year in Poplarville Saturday night with a 28-14 decision over the East Central Warriors.

The victory left the Wildcats with a 3-2 overall ledger and a 1-2 conference mark. Pearl River will tangle with arch-rival Gulf Coast Saturday night in Pascagoula.

East Central jumped to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when quarterback Jim Kennamer found his favorite receiver, Randy Hornesburger, in the endzone from 27 yards out. Todd Wall added the PAT and the Warriors led 7-0 with 5:51 remaining in the first quarter.

PRC's first half score came after Mark Wesley recovered a fumble at the Wildcat 46 and quarterback Mark Toler then passed to Anthony Patterson down to the Warrior two. Donnie Lewis took it over from the one and Bobby Stockstill booted the PAT and the contest was tied at seven.

In the third period, the Wildcats jumped to a 14-7 lead when Toler hit tailback Denist Nelson from 23 yards out. Again Stockstill kicked and the Wildcats led 14-7.

East Central came roaring back in the same period with another Kennamer to Hornesburger combination, this time from 28 yards out, to tie the game with 14 seconds in the third.

Mid-way through the fourth Kenny Caines intercepted Kennamer and put the 'Cats in possession. Denist Nelson picked up 15 yards, and another 15 stripes were added for a personal foul. Toler then passed to John Bissell down to the one.

With 7:54 left in the game, Lewis was again called on to bull his way over for the go-ahead points.

Pearl River's defensive secondary took care of the contest as Steve Dees picked off one Kennamer pass and Ben Preston came up with another to stop the Warriors.

Late in the contest Greg Slade recovered a fumble down at the one yard line setting up the last score of the night this time by Hollis Payton.

Kenny Caines grabbed another miscue from Kennamer and returned it 55 yards for a score, however, a penalty nullified the beautiful return.

The PRC offense rolled up 315 total yards, while limiting the Warriors to 177. Ten different players carried the ball for the Wildcats with Denist Nelson picking up 70 yards on eight tries. Randall Colette carried the ball seven times for 59 yards and Donnie Lewis picked up 47 yards on 10 carries.

Ole Miss, Georgia expect to draw crowd of 60,000

The Ole Miss Rebels will meet the Georgia Bulldogs in Sanford Stadium in Athens at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, the first Southeastern Conference game for the Rebels.

Georgia leads the rivalry 10-7-1 in this 18-game series that dates back to 1940 with a 28-14 Ole Miss victory. The Bulldogs defeated Ole Miss 24-21 last season in Oxford.

Steve Sloan, in his third season at Ole Miss, has compiled a career record of 45-36-2. Vince Dooley, in his 17th year at Georgia, has a career mark of 122-56-6. Sloan is a 1988 graduate of the University of Alabama. Dooley is a 1954 graduate of Auburn.

A crowd of more than 60,000 is expected.

Ole Miss was defeated by Southern Mississippi 22-22 before 47,211 fans in Mississippi Memorial Stadium in Jackson. The Bulldogs enjoyed an open date.

"It's pretty obvious that Georgia is a lot better than they were last year," said Rebel coach Steve Sloan.

"Everybody knows they have a great running back in Herschel Walker, who has more than 400 yards in his first four games. They have some big offensive linemen and they like to keep the ball and just run over you," he continued.

"They also can pass when they need to because they have a fine quarterback and two outstanding wide receivers. They have a difficult style of defense to attack, plus the fact they have a lot of good players," Sloan added.

Next week Ole Miss will host Florida in Oxford in a homecoming contest. Georgia will play Vanderbilt in Athens.

Sophomore punter Darryl Graham continues to kick well for the Rebels. Against USM, he had five kicks for 336 yards, a 47.2 average. On the season, he has kicked 22 times for 919 yards, a 41.8 mark. He had a 63-yarder against the Golden Eagles.

Tailback Buford McGee, who suffered an ankle injury against USM, will probably miss the Georgia game.

Game captains will be tight end Billy Wise for the offense and tackles James Erves and Bryan Kennedy for the defense. Specialty teams' captain will be punter Darryl Graham.

Georgia freshman tailback Herschel Walker rushed for 69 yards on nine carries in the Bulldogs' 34-9 victory over TCU, giving him 419 yards in his first four games as a Bulldog.

The Rebels will bus to Memphis Friday and fly to Atlanta and then bus to Athens. A light workout has been scheduled in Athens Friday afternoon. Ole Miss will headquarter at the Ramada Inn - Athens. The team will return home immediately after the game.

Ole Miss compiled a 4-7 record. Georgia posted a 6-5 season mark.

The Rebels continue to do well on third down conversions with 37 of 74 on the season. The opponents have converted on 22 of 73 attempts.

Hancock Cable schedules Ole Miss-Georgia contest

The Ole Miss Rebel-Georgia Bulldog Football game Saturday in Athens will air later by the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network on Hancock Community Cable's Channel 3.

The delayed broadcast will be featured locally at 2:30 p.m. Monday and again at 1 a.m. Tuesday with sportscasters Jim Thacker and Jim Hill.

A game between two of the nation's top independents - Pittsburgh and Florida State - also highlights five NCAA football games on ESPN this weekend.

Other games include top-ranked Alabama against Rutgers at the Meadowlands in New Jersey; Texas A&M at Houston in an SWC contest; Michigan State at Michigan in a traditional Big 10 matchup; and Mississippi at Georgia in an SEC game.

Pittsburgh and Florida state have met only four times before, with Pitt winning the last two games, including a 7-3 victory in 1978. Both teams have been nationally-ranked since the season started, and both feature defensive standouts: Pitt's All-America defensive end Hugh Green, and Florida State's noseguard Ron Simmons.

Head Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant's Alabama Crimson Tide will be facing Rutgers for the first time as Alabama continues its bid for a third consecutive national championship.

Houston had to rally in the last 56 seconds last season to defeat Texas A&M, 17-14, and then advanced to the Cotton Bowl after an Aggie win over Texas on the last weekend of the season. The Cougar victory marked the first time either team had won two in a row in the series, which began in 1952.

The Michigan-Michigan State series is one of the oldest in the country. The two teams first met in 1898.

St. Stanislaus to visit d'Iberville for first Conference game

By Randy Ponder
The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will travel to d'Iberville Friday night to take on the perennial Pascagoula River Conference champion Warriors.

"We feel we have a good chance to beat them," Rock's head coach Barry Jones stated. "We came real close last year. Fumbles in the late going hurt us. This might be our year to win," Jones added. In order for the Rock-A-Chaws to even be close, they will have to stop the running of No. 19 James Evans. Evans presents a double threat. Not only is he leading the conference in touchdowns scored with eight, he has also passed for two TDs.

Needless to say, when questioned about what the team was working on in practice, Jones' reply was, "stopping James Evans." "He's the key to their offense, perhaps the best running back on the Gulf Coast. Evans has that reputation," Jones answered.

Injuries should not play an important role in St. Stanislaus' first conference game. Halfback Sean Logan, sidelined for three weeks with a hairline fracture of the knee, is expected to play. Back-up Halfback Mark Tubre should also be ready if needed.

The Rock-A-Chaw defensive unit is all healthy. The 'graveyard' squad has consistently helped the offense all year, coming up with the big play when needed the most.

The d'Iberville game will be SSC's stiffest test to date. Jones commented, "In order for us to win, our defense will have to control the game."

With that in mind, here is the starting defensive line-up for Friday's game—No. 23, Marc Meyer, DB; No. 25, Dennis Scardino, DB; No. 27, Juan Betanzo, WB; No. 30, Dave Boos, FB; No. 43, Mike Prendergast, FB; No. 44, David Caserta, DB; No. 60, Mark Lichenstein, NG; No. 66, Joe Church, G; No. 71, Mike Colmon, T; No. 77, George Corcoran, T; and No. 87, Lee Klein, E.

Game time at d'Iberville is 7:30 p.m.

Oak Downs futurity registrations due

Registrations are now being accepted for the time trials Nov. 2 and final Nov. 9 at Oak Downs Race Track.

In the quarterhorse futurity races, two-year-olds will be racing a distance of 350 yards, three-year-olds will cover 400 yards and four-year-olds will go 440 yards.

The distances for the thoroughbred futurities will be three furlongs for two-year-olds, five furlongs for three-year-olds and six furlongs for four-year-olds. A furlong is 220 yards, or one-eighth of a mile. Eddie Zundel, track operator, said horsemen may enter horses in either of two entry levels.

Separate divisions will be held for $50 entry fee and another for a $100 entry fee. Prize money will be awarded on the basis of 60 percent of the total entry fees going for the winner in each age grouping for both quarterhorses and thoroughbreds.

Second place finishers will receive 20 percent and third gets 11 percent.

More information on registration for the futurities may be obtained by contacting Zundel at 643-8174, or by mail at Rt. 7, Box 7420, Slidell, La. 70458.

In Sunday's action, Roger Ford's Take A Dip set a new meet record of 1:04 for five furlongs in turning back Run For Shelter.

In a mild upset, Sandra Norman's J.R. took a half-length victory over V.L. Thomas' Nick in the 350-yard third race with a clocking of 18.9 seconds.

Sunday's results:
1) 1/8 mile, Thank You Rick, no time recorded, Merlin Marechal, owner and trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Jason, lost rider in first turn and failed to finish.

2) 1/8 mile, Holiday's Goal, 37.9, Ed Peeples, owner; Anthony Dedeaux, trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Terry's Prince, second.

3) 350 yards, J.R., 18.9, Sandra Norman, owner and trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Nick, second.

4) 1/8 mile, Gas Away Go, no time recorded, Stan Welsler, owner and trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Snake Hips, lost rider in backstretch and failed to finish.

5) 1/8 mile, Take A Dip, 1:04, Roger Ford, owner; Edmond Malley, trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Run For Shelter, second.

A scheduled sixth race of 1/8 mile was canceled after one of the horses refused to be loaded in the starting gate.

Oak Downs' leading jockey, JoAnn Boatwright of Cantonment, Fla., won all five races on a short program Sunday.

Horses owned and trained by Sandra Norman of Pass Christian won the first two races the previous Sunday at Oak Downs.

Terry's Prince captured the 1/8-mile first race in a come-from-behind effort against Big Red. Both horses went wide on the final turn but jockey John Hirdes got Terry's Prince up on the outside for the victory with a clocking of 39.7 seconds.

In the 300-yard second race, Miss Norman's J.R. was an easy victor over Rocky. A graduate of Pass Christian High School, the 18-year-old Miss Norman, who trains horses in her spare time, attends Jefferson Davis Junior College.

JoAnn Boatwright, 13-year-old rider from Cantonment, Fla., tied for first place in the Oak Downs jockey standings with six victories on Sunday's nine-race card.

The half-dozen wins gave JoAnn a total of 33 for the 1980 meet, tying her with Jeff Peterman of Gulfport, Miss.

JoAnn's victories came in the second, third, fourth, fifth, seventh and eighth races. She was prevented from taking over the lead outright when in the 400-yard ninth race, her stepbrother, Chucky Ward, guided Lil Oh Swell to a half-length victory over JoAnn's mount, Bread Winner Jet Set.

Horses owned and trained by J.N. Shilling of Denham Springs captured three races with one of his animals, Limerick Castle, establishing a meet record for six furlongs with a clocking of 1:21.0 since it was the first time a race at that distance was run at Oak Downs during the current meet.

Sunday's results:
1) 1/8 mile, Terry's Prince, 39.7, Sandra Norman, owner and trainer; John Hirdes, jockey. Big Red, second.

2) 300 yards, J.R., 17.55, Sandra Norman, owner and trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Rocky, second.

3) 350 yards, Smoke Stack,

18.5, Joe Boatwright, owner and trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Bart's Top Charge, second.

4) 250 yards, Sandy Joe, 15.0, J.N. Shilling, owner and trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Miss Home Breaker, second.

5) 6 furlongs, Limerick Castle, 1:21.0, J.N. Shilling, owner and trainer; JoAnn Boatwright, jockey. Shawn's Ruler, second.

6) 440 yards, Goodnight Omega, 23.5, Elmo Harless, owner; Merlin Marechal, trainer; John Hirdes, jockey.

Rebels open fall baseball practice

With a 52-game schedule featuring 45 Division I opponents facing the Rebels in the spring, it's not surprising the Ole Miss baseball team is taking fall practice seriously.

After tryouts, Coach Jake Gibbs has the squad down to a working number, and is putting the team through its paces. Weight lifting, inter-squad games and fundamental drills should have the Rebels ready for spring contests.

"I am pleased with the team we have and our practices," Gibbs said. "We have a group that thinks they are winners and are working hard to prove it."

Defense should prove to be the Rebel stronghold with all of last season's outfield and four senior infielders returning to the Ole Miss diamond. The Ole Miss offensive punch can't be overlooked, however.

With three weeks of fall practice remaining, Gibbs and his staff are concentrating on hitting, bunting and base running.

"The purpose of our fall program is to improve and prepare for the coming season," Gibbs said. "We don't have an easy schedule ahead of us, but we enjoy good competition and are looking forward to the season."

RUN AROUND END—Rock-A-Chaw Quarterback Joe Gex, No. 10, eludes Hancock North Central tacklers as he picks up important first down in the St. Stanislaus victory over the Hawks Friday, 9-6. Re-opened Lake Columbia fishing reported good

One of the smaller lakes owned by the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation may well be on its way to becoming one of the better fishing holes in south Mississippi.

Lake Columbia, the 90-acre impoundment which has been closed for over a year for repairs, was reopened by the agency for fishing on Sept. 3. The lake produced some good fishing during its first four days open.

Agency fisheries biologists and technical personnel monitored the catches of 595 anglers who fished some 2,748 hours on the lake. Nearly 13,000 fish of all types were caught weighing almost 4,000 pounds, officials say. The average bass caught weighed almost one pound and channel catfish were averaging just under two pounds, according to fisheries chief Barry Freeman of Jackson. Fishermen averaged catching about one and one-half pounds of fish per hour, he said.

Freeman added that brush tops and gravel spawning beds have been added to the lake which should help the fish and concentrate them in certain areas for the benefit of fishermen.

Lake Columbia is located just southeast of Columbia on the Marion County Wildlife Management Area.

State plans activity-packed weekend to mark homecoming

The colors of autumn... a raging bonfire... a pep rally... an open-air concert... golf tournament... exhibition baseball... a 10,000-meter run... an intense, intrastate football rivalry... the pagentry of a coronation... marching bands... a time of reunion.

All these will go into the make-up of 1980 Homecoming at Mississippi State University, Friday and Saturday.

The weekend will begin Friday as cadets of U.S. Army ROTC fire a cannon at 5 p.m. to signal retreat (a lowering of the flag) on the Drill Field.

At 6:15 p.m., a 75-unit parade will start its winding course through campus, heading for the 7 p.m. bonfire and pep rally in front of Fraternity Drive.

Immediately following, a free rock concert featuring Carolyn Mas will take place at the same location.

Golf enthusiasts who plan to be on campus Friday will have the opportunity to play in the Homecoming Open, beginning at 1:30 p.m. at Lakeside Golf Course.

Baseball fans will have a chance to preview the 1981 Bulldog squad when veterans and rookies square off for a 7 p.m. exhibition game at Dudy Noble Field.

For the long-distance runner, Saturday will offer the Second Annual Bulldog 10,000-Meter. Sanctioned by the Mississippi Track Association, the run will start promptly at 8:30 a.m. at Humphrey Coliseum parking lot. A $5 pre-registration fee (paid before 5 p.m. Oct. 9) will save the entrant 50 cents.

Final registration will be held at 8 a.m. on the day of the race.

Highlighting the weekend will be the 1:15 p.m. presentation at Scott Field of the 1980 Homecoming Queen and her court, and the 1:30 p.m. football game between MSU and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Half-time activities will include introduction of the 1980 State football team, whose 10-0-1 record resulted in an invitation to-and victory at-the 1941 Orange Bowl.

For a complete schedule of events, contact the MSU Alumni Association office, Drawer AA, Mississippi State, Miss. 39762, telephone 325-2434, or Homecoming chairman Gaddis Hunt, telephone 325-3228.

Rotondo named semi-pro coach

Dom Schwab Sr., owner and coach of the New Orleans Blue Knights and commissioner of the Dixie Semi-Pro Football League, announced the hiring of Richard (Rick) Rotundo of Bay St. Louis as defensive coach for the Knights.

The Blue Knights are six time DFL champions and are well on their way to their seventh with an undefeated record in five regular season games.

Rotundo is a graduate of East Jefferson High School and has been active in football for the past 12 years, including the organization and coaching of a 1977 Seabee football team in Rota, Spain.

Rotundo is also the head coach for the Bay St. Louis American Legion Warhawks Touch Football Team.

The next scheduled game for the Blue Knights will be Saturday at 7 p.m. against the

at SSC

St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis and Converse Rubber Co., manufacturers of athletic shoes, will jointly sponsor open women's 'A' and 'B' tennis tournaments Wednesday at the school.

Brother Pascal, Stanislaus tennis pro, said the event will begin at 9 a.m.

Entry fee is $5 and one can of balls, Pascal reported. Awards will be shoes donated by the co-sponsor, Converse. Men's and boys' competitions, also sponsored by the school and rubber company, are slated for Saturday beginning at 8 a.m. at the school courts.

Pascal said fees and awards will be the same as in the women's events.

Brandon Seagraves was winner of a sixth and seventh grade tourney at SSC last week, Pascal reported.

Winner of an eighth and ninth grade event was Bobby Roullet.

Auxiliary hosts Ladies Doubles

The Bay St. Louis Junior Auxiliary will host a Ladies Doubles Tennis Tournament Tuesday, October 28 at Tennis World in Diamondhead.

The tournament will begin at 9 a.m.

Entrance fees will be $10 per person and forms are available at Tennis World, Diamondhead; Plantation Pines Club, Long Beach; Petit Bois, Gulfport; and other racquet clubs along the coast.

Forms are also available by calling Ann Heitzmann at 467-2675. Entry deadline is Thursday, October 23.

Turn-of-The-Century inflation revealed by old tax receipts

By S. GRADY THIGPEN

To show one instance of the great change in almost everything in this country in the last few years, Otho Rester, now deceased, of Rt. 3 Picaune, brought to me a receipt from the Kings' Daughters Hospital in Gulfport dated Oct. 18, 1933, which reads, "For professional services rendered Mr. James Rester from Oct. 14 to Oct. 18, 4 days at $6 per day, total $24."

This receipt was marked, Paid in Full Oct. 18, 1933 and signed by Mrs. Carl B. Williams, R.N.

Otho Rester, son of James Rester, said, "My father received the best of treatment, nursing care and attention and the meals were good. The care he received there was just as good in every respect as one would get in any good hospital today."

When hospital care back about 50 years ago is compared with the cost today, we realize how much inflation has taken place since the start of World War II in 1933.

James Rester back in 1887 owned 160 acres of land at what is now known as Leetown.

On this land he had a good old time house and other improvements.

A tax receipt dated 1887 shows that Mr. Rester paid a total tax of $2.20. One dollar of this was for poll tax, leaving a total of $1.20 as the tax on the 160 acre farm with all improvements.

The state tax was 28 cents, the county tax was 44 cents, bridge tax 12 cents, school tax 24 cents and a special tax 12 cents.

Maybe the low taxes of that time is why we call the days of long ago The Good Old Days.

This tax receipt was signed by Joseph F. Cazenueve, sheriff and tax collector of Hancock County.

When Mr. Rester went to pay his taxes a year later the total was only $1.63 and of that the poll tax was $1, making the tax on this fine farm 63 cents.

People complained of high taxes back then, just as they do now. It seems that people complain of high taxes regardless of the amount.

This receipt was signed by Reuben Smith, deputy sheriff with Joseph Cazenueve still the sheriff.

This man Cazenueve must have been a good politician back in those days as he served as sheriff several times.

The next tax receipt which Otho Rester brought to me was dated Dec. 11, 1894 and was for $5.87 with the poll tax $2 instead of $1, leaving the tax on the property at $3.87, a considerable increase over previous years.

The next tax receipt Otho Rester brought to me was dated Dec. 15, 1897 and was signed by a new sheriff, Frank J. Ladner.

This receipt shows that taxes had gone up again, this time to $7.39 which included the poll tax of $2.

The old tax receipts show a continuous rise, however there must have been complaints for Mr. Rester's taxes for 1899 had gone down some.

I call attention to the fact that these taxes are not as little as they seem, for, as the old saying goes "Money was Money Back Ten." A dollar back in 1899 would buy as much as $10 now or more with all the inflation that has taken place in the last 80 years.

Another tax receipt was dated Dec. 1901 with Joseph F. Cazenueve again sheriff and tax collector.

Taxes have again gone up as this receipt was for $9.01. The tax receipt for 1902 was for $10.46.

The next receipt available is dated January 28, 1922. This time there has been a tremendous increase in taxes with the receipt showing a total of $121.99. The school tax had risen from 24 cents in 1887 to $55.65 on the Rester farm in 1922.

Evan Whitfield was the sheriff in 1922.

Reuben Smith who lived out about two miles east of Caesar was sheriff of Hancock County at least once.

He served for many years as tax assessor and as a deputy sheriff.

He was sheriff one term

when the courthouse was at Gainesville.

Richmond Smith who lived at the old home of Reuben Smith and who died a few years ago, was the son of Reuben Smith.

It seems that many people, maybe the majority of them, would not go to Bay St. Louis to pay taxes as it was so far away with the transportation available back then.

It would take about three days to go to Bay St. Louis, attend to business and return home where now this same trip can be made in about 3 hours.

It seems that the sheriff back in the old days, being a good politician and not wanting to offend voters by advertising property for taxes would either send a deputy or go himself over the more distant sections of the county to collect taxes.

Richmond Smith told of his father going to the home of an old timer out in the French country on a tax collecting trip.

When he asked this old man for his tax money, the old man became indignant, saying this was no longer a free country if he had to pay taxes, and refused to pay.

When the deputy tried to explain, the old man went into a rage and ran for his gun. His sons got between the old man and his gun rack and calmed him down, one of them whispering to the deputy sheriff that he would go to the Bay and pay the taxes the next week.

Most people, according to Richmond, gave friendly greeting to his tax collector father and really appreciated his calling by and saving them from having to make the trip to Bay St. Louis.

Richmond told of going to a school, out in the French country in the same general area of where the old man refused to pay taxes. He said that when one of the young men at the party became disorderly the old man at whose home the frolic was being held, went for his gun to enforce order there.

When the young fellow who was acting up saw the old man with the gun, he ran for his horse which was tied up in front of the house. He was in such a hurry to get away that he jumped up on his horse and put the spurs to it without unbiting the horse.

Of course the horse could not move. The young fellow jumped off the horse, untied it as quickly as possible and got back in his saddle, and lit out.

Richmond liked to tell of the old days before the timber was cut when the country was still just as God made it. Some of the old stories people like to tell probably originated down in this part of the country; like for instance, about the big dance, with the lively music going and everybody having a big time.

When the music stopped, according to the old tale, every young man present jerked out his knife (every boy carried a good knife) and opened the blade.

The way it is told, a stranger at the party who had never attended a frolic like this before, thought sure they were going to be big cutting and stabbing affray and in his fright hastily crawled under the bed in the room.

As he watched in right from his safe place under the bed, the boys all began picking the splinters from the rough pine flooring out of the girls feet. I might add that when I first came down in this section 68 years ago, I myself attended some lively frolics on Saturday nights down in Hancock County.

Another old time story you've probably heard before was about the old time Baptist ceremony of foot washing. A great revival took place.

At the Sunday climax of the revival, the foot washing ceremony was scheduled to take place. One old man had many years before quit attending church. On this particular occasion he showed up.

He became greatly enthused and along with others he took part in the solemn religious rite of foot washing.

While the foot washing was taking place, he is reputed to have said, "This is the first time my feet have been washed in 25 years."

The protracted meetings, or as some called them, the big meetings, were great times back in the old days.

I remember attending these meetings myself. At an old church near where we lived the services on the big day would begin about 10 o'clock. At these meetings there would usually be two or three or even more preachers in attendance.

Every preacher present would speak and the service would go on and on, however they always managed to recess long enough for everyone present to partake of the sumptuous feast prepared by the good women and spread on the tables prepared in advance.

The hottest places I've ever been in my whole life were the old time churches at a revival on a hot summer day crowded to capacity by perspiring people.

I've sat for what seemed like hours in one of those old churches when it must have been way above 100 degrees.

Extension service advises on spending

Where does the money go? If you hear this question often or ask yourself this frequently, examine your spending habits carefully.

"You can control your money world," says Dr. Julia Barnes, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service family economics and management specialist.

"Credit is a hot issue right now. You must decide whether to use it to improve the quality of your life or to keep up with someone else's lifestyle. Read correspondence from credit card companies carefully. Know the new rules and regulations. Mississippi's laws now allow companies to charge up to 21 percent on credit card accounts," Barnes explains.

"You may decide to cut up all credit cards except one to three. You may pay off all amounts you own at the old terms, provided you've made no additional charges," the specialist cites.

"Be sure to control your credit usage and pay your bills before the next billing day if you plan to use credit as a convenience with no interest charges," Barnes recommends.

"The rent on credit is a big money eater, so try to eliminate the interest charges on your credit cards and charge accounts," she advises credit card holders.

"If you use the cash flow check book balance, enter your credit purchases in red ink just as if you were writing a check. Deduct the purchases family's income. Be sure to from your balance. Send a check for your charged coverage that includes purchases to the company as adequate home, auto, health insurance as you receive the bill," and life insurance," she reports.

"The 1980 inflation rates have been exaggerated by zooming retirement with your first mortgage rates, high prices check. Be sure to consider for homes, jumps in energy social security, company or prices and property tax in government plans. Tailor your creases. The Consumer Prices plan to your needs. Look in Index has gone as high as 14.3 your dollars for day-by-day and future satisfaction."

"Disregard the items that Barnes concludes.

do not affect you, and perhaps the overall inflation rate is about 8.3 percent. You might need 10.5 percent for the planning figure for 1981," she says.

"Look for specific ways you can cut costs each week and put more power in your fall and winter dollars. Base your flexible spending plan on real income," Barnes notes.

"You may spend 70 percent of your household budget for housing, food, energy and medical care. Keep your home payment (taxes, insurance and maintenance) to one week's income. Your medical care costs may be trimmed significantly with an adequate diet, plenty of exercise, a positive attitude and medical and dental checkups. Your food and energy costs can be cut 30-40 percent with planning, management, and comparison shopping. You can save 15 percent by buying generic items and no-frills box lots, she explains.

"Pay yourself first by setting aside savings for emergencies and future goals. You can beat inflation with a good interest rate. Make it low for borrowing and high for savings," she advises.

"Be sure your savings grow until you've got two months' income stashed away with the highest possible yield. But be sure to save regularly. Gear your savings and investments to future goals," Barnes recommends.

"Term insurance is your just as if you were writing a check. Deduct the purchases family's income. Be sure to from your balance. Send a check for your charged coverage that includes purchases to the company as adequate home, auto, health insurance as you receive the bill," and life insurance," she reports.

Frozen foods require special care in event of power failure

While frozen food is damaged occasionally by carelessness, both frozen and refrigerated food supplies are threatened when power fails.

In Mississippi this may happen when a flood or an ice or windstorm strikes, says Ann O. Rushing, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service marketing specialist.

Power failure of only three to four hours need not result in damaged home-frozen or refrigerated food. If you leave the door closed during this time, a well-insulated refrigerator should stay within a safe temperature range (about 45 degrees F) for a few hours.

If refrigerator power is likely to be out longer than four hours, consider moving food from your refrigerator to a neighbor's refrigerator if possible.

If neighbors don't have power either, pack ice and food from your refrigerator into all available insulated picnic chests.

Give priority for emergency storage space to most expensive, highly perishable items. If you might need ice later for drinking water, put it in jars or sealed refrigerator dishes before placing it in the storage chest, she suggests.

It's possible that power failures during storms do less harm to foods in home freezers than other power failures. Home freezer owners are likely to be so busy with other emergencies that they may forget about the home freezer.

If the anxious freezer owner doesn't open the door every few minutes, the food in a well-filled freezer should stay frozen for two days. Contents of a partially loaded freezer may thaw in a day or less.

If restoration of service is to take longer than the time that a freezer would normally keep contents frozen, move the frozen food to an operating freezer or frozen food locker if possible. An even less time-consuming solution is to place dry ice in the freezer, saw or chop it into pieces. Use insulated gloves to prevent burned hands. Place dry ice on top of frozen food.

Close the freezer, cover it with blankets and ventilate the room. Do not open the freezer again until service is restored or dry ice needs replacing. Used in this way, 50 pounds of dry ice can protect solidly frozen food for two to four days.

When power fails, there's a good chance of food spoilage in refrigerators and freezers. Food in a freezer may lose quality when it thaws, but actual spoilage time of frozen food is the length of time required for it to warm up to normal refrigerator temperature plus the time that a similar refrigerated food will keep after power is discontinued.

Whether they were in the refrigerator or freezer when power failed, highly perishable custards, creamed foods or other low-acid cooked foods should be thrown out if they warm to room temperature.

You may keep red meat roasts, cured ham and bacon at cool room temperature for several hours without spoilage, but cook them thoroughly before eating.

Save thawed hamburger, fresh sausage, pork and fish by cooking even after they have passed the safe stage for refreezing - if power has been restored so soon as they are cooked and cooled.

As a last resort, save meat and vegetables during a power failure by canning them if you have a pressure canner. Eggs, hard cheeses, preserves, pickles, olives, bread and several other items you usually keep in the refrigerator will keep stored in a cool room for a few days.

Some of the food in almost any home freezer can be refrozen safely if you find it before the contents have spoiled. Quality damage to thawed food is reduced when the entire contents of the freezer are refrozen as quickly as possible; then you may open the freezer safely to remove food to be discarded.

It is safe to use or refreeze partially thawed fresh meat, poultry, fish, fruits or vegetables. Partial thawing causes quality loss, but food poisoning organisms do not thrive in food held at or below normal refrigerator temperature.

After refreezing, use meats within a few months. Plan to use refrozen sausage, bacon, ham and other processed meats within weeks. Their normal storage time should not exceed three months, adds Mrs. Rushing.

Thawing and refreezing of fruits and vegetables usually result in flavor, texture and color changes, plus some loss in food value. If flavor and texture change is noticeable, fruits are still likely to be satisfactory for cooked desserts or for making into jams or jellies.

Fruits and fruit products are likely to ferment at temperatures about 45 degrees F or above. This fermentation may cause unacceptable flavor, but does not make fruit unsafe to eat.

"If you have doubt about any thawed frozen food, discard it," she says. "This includes all foods that have developed off-odors and all cooked foods except candies, breads, plain cakes and doughnuts. Low-acid vegetables that have warmed to temperatures above 45 degrees F are too risky to keep. This temperature, slightly above refrigerator temperature, is the point at which low-acid foods spoil quickly."

ETV Brief

New York City went dark on November 9, 1965, at 5:16 p.m. Triggered by the "snapping shut of one tiny relay at a Niagara Falls power station, the vast, interconnecting web of electrical generators and conveyors, which supplies the Eastern Seaboard, turned its enormous load of power back upon itself and temporarily 'committee suicide.' The result was the most massive blackout in American history - an event that, in a single instant, deprived millions of people of the technology on which they rely for convenience, comfort, safety and life itself.

The New York blackout is the starting point of "Connections: An Alternative View of Change" a 10-part series to be rebroadcast beginning at 7 p.m. Sundays on the Mississippi Educational Television Network. The series was first seen on ETV last fall.

Program one, entitled "The Trigger Effect," provides a vivid illustration of what host James Burke sees as the contemporary human condition, "man's uneasy occupation of a complex and impossibly intricate world in which he is helpless when his technological support systems break down."

With a stunningly staged recreation of the New York black-out of 1965 as a starting point, the program reaches back 7,000 years to Egypt and the invention of the plough, which Burke sees as the basic "trigger" of historical change. "Connections" is closed-captioned for the hearing-impaired.

To hold a precious opal is to carry a rainbow

Editor's Note: Joe Pilet's articles on gems and minerals appear in the monthly house organ of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Gem and Mineral Society, and are printed in the Echo with permission from that organization.

By JOE PILET

Would you care to hold a rainbow in your hand? Then place in your palm a lovely precious opal. Study the splendid play of colors. The hues are pure and un-mixed. Move the gem about, rotate it, and revel in the wonder of its play of colors and indescribable hues of dazzling intensity.

Thousands of years ago the ancient peoples of India were writing in Sanskrit words in praise of the "upala"

(precious stone). Greeks and later Romans also knew the stone as the "opulus," and today we speak of the "opal."

What are the properties of this precious opal? Actually, on first consideration, it has little to recommend it. It is weak, brittle, sensitive to heat and according to legend, it is an "unlucky" stone for any other than an October-born wearer. It cracks easily. It can lose luster. Those are the negative aspects.

But positively it is beautiful! It is unique. Exquisite!

It is the object of deep admiration because of its hypnotic display of colors. It is difficult to look away from an opal.

Designated as October's birthstone and said to bring exceptional luck to those born within the month who wear it, the stone carries a superstitious curse for non-October born wearers.

However, this superstition has evidently not been a deterrent. Jewelers along the Mississippi Gulf Coast report there is currently more interest in and more purchases of the precious opal than any other gem stone.

What is an opal? It is silica and oxygen and water.

All opals contain water. Some have up to ten percent water content. That is why the dry atmosphere of homes and shops can cause cracks or loss of translucency.

Opal owners should treat these precious gems with extreme care. Never store them together with other gem stones. Remember to remove rings set with opals when placing the hands in extra hot or extra cold water. These gems are sensitive to extreme temperatures. Do not store them for long periods of time in safes or vaults. Coat them occasionally with a light film of olive oil.

The colors of opals are many and varied, as are the classifications. Mexico's "fire opals" range from reddish-yellow to reddish brown. Nevada's opals range from perfectly white to slightly creamy. Washington's opalized logs show half a dozen colors in a single specimen. Moss opals have been found in Colorado.

Common opals are found in many states. The precious opal, however is rare and hard to come by. Precious opals were cut and polished by the Aztecs before America was discovered. The Aztecs called them "vitralitepatl," from the Aztec's language to English that would mean "the hummingbird stone" - its flashing colors do resemble the plumage of these rare birds.

The Aztec Sun God Opal is delightfully displayed in Chicago Natural History Museum, together with another treasure, the "Agulla Azteca," or Aztec Eagle. This eagle head carving contains thirty-two carats of precious opal and was once in the collection of Emperor Maximilian.

To differentiate between "precious opal" and "common opal" remember the term "precious" is reserved for specimen which show a play of color. The precious opal is further classified as "white opal" or "black opal," depending on whether the background color is whitish or, in the case of black, the background is either gray, bluish-gray, or black.

"Common Opal" is the term used to classify opals with no display of color, or those which do not fall under some definite classification.

For further information on locations, formations, and properties of opals the book Gemstones Of North America written by Capt. John Sinkankas, a certified gemologist, is recommended.

Capt. Sinkankas devoted some 25 pages to opals, giving readers the hope of finding those "common" opals just "anywhere you wander," and the precious ones in fine jewelry stores at a price scaled according to size, coloration and cut.

New treatment eligibility system goes in at Keesler Medical Center

Enrollment in the Defense Enrollment Eligibility Reporting System began Oct. 1, at 7:15 a.m. in Room 233 of the Sablich Center at Keesler Air Force Base.

The system, when it becomes operational in early 1981, will enable the medical staff at the Keesler Medical Center to determine if those people seeking care there are eligible to receive it.

"Enrollment is mandatory for everybody who will be using the medical center here or anywhere else at a military facility," explained Capt. Judy Herzog, system project officer here.

"The system was mandated by the Congress as a way to reduce the fraudulent use of military medical facilities by people who are not eligible to use them," she said.

In addition, it will provide a means for the Department of Defense to keep track of the numbers of people eligible to receive care in military medical facilities for planning purposes.

Enrollment here involves three major groups of people, according to Wilson Gilbert, area representative for Electronic Data Systems, the DoD contractor for the program.

"The first group, of course, includes all active duty military members and their dependents," said Gilbert. He emphasized that all dependents must be enrolled, not just those who have military identification cards.

"The second group includes the more than 5,000 military retirees in this area and their dependents," he said. The third group is surviving spouses and children of deceased active military or retired military members.

Gilbert said this last group has the greatest potential for not getting the word about signing up.

"If anyone knows of someone who falls into this third category, tell them about the system or have them contact us."

The sponsor is the one who must enroll his or her dependents. "The only non-sponsors who need to visit the enrollment center are those whose sponsors are deceased or are not presently in the area," said Capt. Herzog.

Active military and retired members are enrolled automatically. To enroll their dependents, they must bring the dependent's identification card and proof of eligibility, such as marriage certificate, birth certificate, adoption papers, etc.

For additional information about the system, call 377-3337.

WE WELCOME FOOD STAMP SHOPPERS!

APPLE OF YOUR EYE.

And we guarantee it.

When you choose produce, demand the very best. Sometimes a cheaper price means cheaper quality—undersize avocados, limp heads of lettuce, smaller grapes that are less plump, sweet and juicy. And that's no bargain.

But the quality is never cheap at Jitney. It's always up to our high standards...and yours. "The highest possible quality at the lowest possible price." That's how we define excellent value in fresh produce.
